

Patrol Ambush by Fanatical Congo Savages

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—United Nations soldiers advanced from three sides today on a tribe of fanatic savages suspected of having killed nine Irish soldiers in a north Katanga ambush Tuesday.

The mutilated bodies of five of the ambush victims were found by an Irish search party Wednesday and an Irish-Ethiopian patrol found three additional bodies today. Identification was made almost impossible, a U.N. spokesman said, by the injuries the men had received. One other man is missing and presumed dead.

Two members of the 11-man party survived the ambush without injuries, but were shocked to give any immediate information, the spokesman said.

The survivors, Pvt. Joseph Fitzpatrick and Trooper Thomas Kennedy, are under medical care at Albertville.

The ambush was at first believed to have been staged by members of the Baluba youth movement supporters of ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba and violently hostile to Katanga's secessionist premier, Moise Tshombe.

Later information raised a suspicion that the attackers may belong to the fanatic Kikwila tribe, outlawed to the remote and desolate area many years ago by the Belgian colonial administration.

The Kikwila were converted into Jehovah's Witnesses by American missionaries during the 19th century. They interpreted their new belief as requiring the killing of nonbelievers. They are believed to have formed a secret society to which a tribesman could be admitted only if he killed his own father.

Rikhye said that if the Kikwila are in fact responsible for Tuesday's massacre, "our task will be very difficult."

More than 100 United Nations soldiers were cautiously moving forward into the area today with orders to shoot to kill if attacked.

Adenauer to Meet in Feb. With Kennedy

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today he will meet the new president of the United States next February.

"I will discuss with him everything that I have on my mind," the chancellor told foreign correspondents at a luncheon held a short time after the government had issued a communique announcing the chancellor's meeting with President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Adenauer said he was chiefly concerned with general global disarmament, especially nuclear disarmament.

"I hope that Mr. Kennedy will be able to make headway in achieving controlled disarmament because this will inevitably lead to an easing of tension in the world," the 84-year-old chancellor said.

Adenauer said he will go to Washington Feb. 15 for the convention of the American Council of Germany.

Informed sources say Adenauer wants an assurance of continued U.S. participation in West European defense activities. He said he was confident Kennedy would continue to pursue present U.S. foreign policy concerning Western Europe "with dynamic vigor."

Russians at UN Again Accuse U. S.

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States succeeded today in blocking a Soviet-Arab move to adjourn a U.N. Credentials Committee debate on the seating of a Congo delegation headed by President Joseph Kasavubu.

The vote came after the U.S.S.R. accused the United States of trying to railroad a decision with the aim of disrupting U.N. efforts to bring political peace in the turbulent African country.

The committee rejected a Moroccan adjournment motion by a vote of five against three, in favor and one abstaining. Only the Soviet Union, Morocco and the United Arab Republic supported the proposal. New Zealand was chairman, abstained.

The committee then began debate on a U.S. proposal that it act now on the seating of a Congo delegation, headed by Kasavubu. This proposal was vigorously opposed by the Soviet Union which is backing a rival delegation named by deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The committee quickly approved the U.S. proposal 5-3 with one abstention.

Just as the committee convened the Soviet Union issued a statement assailing U.S. motives.

The Soviet Union is backing a rival delegation representing deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba. The Soviet statement asserted that the United States is trying to railroad a decision on the Kasavubu delegation with the aim of disrupting a normal solution of the Congo problem and "undermining the forthcoming work of the conciliation committee of Afro-Asian countries set up in accordance with a decision of the fourth extraordinary session of the General Assembly."

The assembly Wednesday suspended its debate on the Congo question indefinitely.

UN Election Is Set Friday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly will meet at 3 p.m. EST Friday to elect three nonpermanent members of the 11-nation Security Council.

The U.N. Journal disclosed this today. Chile, Portugal and the United Arab Republic are unopposed to succeed Argentina, India and Tunisia in two-year terms starting next Jan. 1.

The big question is whether Portugal will get the two-thirds vote needed to win. Many African and Asian countries and especially India, object to her because she refuses to give the U.N. information on her overseas territories.

Also on the assembly's agenda for the meeting are the election of six members of the 18-nation Economic and Social Council and of six judges for the International Court of Justice in The Hague. But it is not certain that the assembly will get through with all this business in one day.

Kennedy's Measures Will Find Trouble

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy's promised package of economic welfare measures will face a number of tough hurdles in the first session of the 87th Congress.

But the new chief executive also will have several things in his favor as he tries to put through four proposals which he repeatedly told his campaign crowds would be high on the agenda of a Kennedy administration.

The four are minimum wage liberalization, a medical care program tied to the Social Security system, federal aid to education, and depressed areas legislation. These have been debated for years; all were hot issues in the last Congress but failed of enactment because of veto or a legislative snarl or just plain lack of votes.

On the debit side for Kennedy in his drive to win passage of the measures will be:

1. The closeness of his popular vote victory, which foes of the measures can interpret as meaning he has no mandate for his program.

2. The falling off of Democratic majorities in both Senate and House.

3. The stiff opposition of many groups and particular economic interests to the four measures; this has contributed heavily to their defeat so far.

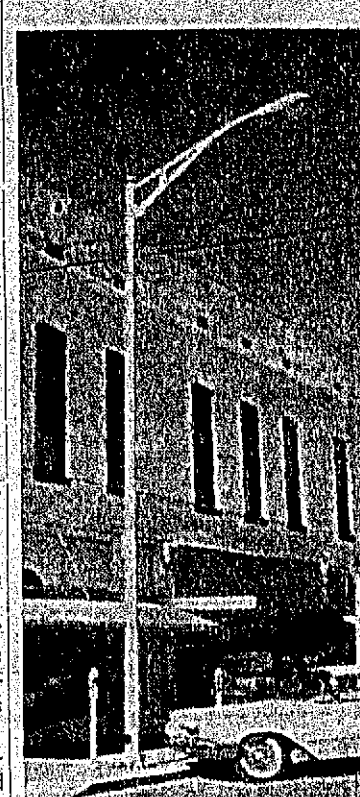

4. The likelihood of a continued conservative Democratic Republican majority on the House Rules Committee. This body has wide roadblock powers, but efforts may be made to trim these when the new Congress meets.

On the credit side, which Kennedy has had a chance to study from the congressional viewpoint for 14 years. These include the appointive power and the job of drawing up the federal budget with all its far-reaching ramifications.

2. The affirmative White House leadership which Kennedy will give in behalf of the measures.

Kennedy Prepares to Answer Ike's Offer to Meet With Him

Wants Revival of Nuclear Tests

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Robert E. Wilson, member of the Atomic Energy Commission, said today he considers it "imperative" that we resume at least small underground nuclear weapons testing promptly.

He says he feels that way about it because this country does not know just what the Soviet Union is doing and cannot depend upon what it says.

In a speech prepared for the fall meeting of the American Philosophical Society, Wilson asserted that the testing he proposes "would involve no fallout hazard whatever."

He told the meeting it should also enable the United States to improve methods of detecting underground blasts, and to go ahead with a peaceful use-of-the-atom program which has been stalled during a voluntary moratorium.

Liaison Talks Necessary in Changeover

By RELMAN MORIN

HYANNIS, Port, Mass. (AP)—John F. Kennedy called his first formal press conference as president-elect today, presumably to announce the initial steps in arranging liaison with the Eisenhower administration.

Kennedy's aides said he would appear at 2:30 p.m. EST.

Whether he has replied to President Eisenhower's telegram Wednesday about considering "problems of continuity of government and orderly transfer of executive responsibility" was not disclosed.

Kennedy's answer to the President had been expected early this morning.

A number of matters also were before Kennedy.

In Bonn, Germany, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said he is meeting Kennedy next February. Adenauer said "I will discuss with him everything I have on my mind." Adenauer said he was primarily concerned with world disarmament, especially nuclear disarmament.

From Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev there was also a message indicating the Russian leader would like to meet with Kennedy.

There was no indication as to Kennedy's attitude toward such a meeting.

Earlier Kennedy conferred with his aides about selection of a representative to act as liaison with President Eisenhower's aides.

Kennedy had not yet replied to Eisenhower's telegram on the question of "the orderly transfer of executive responsibility."

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said "We expect to have the answer some time today."

It is the normal procedure for the president-elect to name a representative to keep in touch with the administration in the period between the election and the inauguration on Jan. 20.

Salinger said Eisenhower's telegram was received late Wednesday afternoon. The text of it was released in Augusta, Ga., at 10 a.m. today.

Eisenhower also suggested liaison meetings with the director of the Bureau of the Budget and Secretary of State Herter.

Kennedy also was studying a telegram from Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

At the same time, Kennedy's aides were working out arrangements for him to go to Palm Beach, Fla., to rest for 10 days to two weeks. Salinger said Kennedy might leave Hyannis Port, his summer home, on Friday.

Khrushchev's telegram appeared to indicate a desire for direct discussions between the United States and the Soviet Union on the most dangerous world problems.

UN Strategy on Congo Is Discussed

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Sudden suspension of General Assembly debate on the Congo threw Western delegations into a series of strategy conferences today, seeking ways to advance President Joseph Kasavubu's bid for the Congo's seat in the United Nations.

Ghana and Guinea, supported by the Soviet bloc, pushed through a surprise motion to hold up the Congo debate at Wednesday's assembly session. Ghana ambassador Alex Quaison-Sackey urged postponement until a 15-member Asian-African commission makes an attempt to resolve the differences between the rival Congolese politicians. The commission is expected to leave for the Congo next week.

Nigeria's Jaja Wachuku, supporting the Ghana motion, contended "any debate and mudslinging here will result only in making the work of that commission impossible."

The United States tried unsuccessfully to delay a vote on the Ghana motion but it was carried 46-30, with 18 abstentions.

A spokesman for the U.S. delegation said later that the Congo debate can be reopened at any time. But he said the United States has not decided whether it would make such a move.

At one point in Wednesday's debate, Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny was interrupted by desk thumping from the Communist and Ghanaian delegations. It was the first such display since Soviet Premier Khrushchev left the assembly.

The October report showed that unemployment rose by 191,000 in October although the idle rate normally declines in the fall. Employment dropped by 277,000.

When the figures were released at the Labor Department, a government spokesman acknowledged in response to questions that the report could have been announced before Tuesday's election.

Some Democratic partisans had contended the administration was holding up an unfavorable employment report for political reasons.

Seymour Wolfheim, the Labor Department's manpower chief, said that the over-all employment-unemployment data was available around the first of every month.

But he said it was the usual procedure to hold up the figures until supplemental data was available.

The October report showed that unemployment rose by 191,000, increasing from 3,388,000 in September to 3,579,000. The idle figure usually declines by around 200,000 in October.

This contra-seasonal climb in unemployment sent the seasonally adjusted employment rate from 5.7 per cent in September to 6.4 per cent in October. This is the highest such rate of the idle in proportion to the total work force since December, 1958.

Employment declined from 67,767,000 to 67,490,000. October usually brings a seasonal increase of about 400,000 jobs.

The number of long-term unemployed, those idle 15 weeks or longer, rose to nearly one million.

Fulbright Is Mentioned for High Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speculation continues that President-elect John F. Kennedy may select Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas as his secretary of state.

Sources close to Fulbright say, however, that the speculation is only that—speculation; that Kennedy has made no commitments of any kind.

Fulbright now chairman and long a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has had much experience in dealing with foreign relations, foreign policy and foreign diplomats.

He campaigned actively for Kennedy and fired several blasts from Washington at administration handling of foreign matters and at campaign claims of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

His experience and his strong support for Kennedy make him a natural subject of speculation for secretary of state.

Four years ago there was similar speculation that Adlai Stevenson, if elected, might want Fulbright as his secretary of state but Stevenson didn't win.

At that time Fulbright reportedly held the view that he could do Stevenson more good on the Foreign Relations Committee than in the cabinet.

Fulbright was en route from Arkansas to Washington today. His office here declined any statement on the secretary of state speculation.

Depressed areas legislation would seem to have the best chance of quick action in the 101 session. Democrats got such a measure through in 1958 and 1960 but Eisenhower each time killed it with a veto.

The legislation is designed to help areas of high and chronic unemployment attract new industries with federal loans, grants and technical aid.

The new Senate will be 64-36 Democratic instead of 66-34 as in the past Congress. In the House, the Democrats apparently lost a net of 22 seats. With 6 races undecided, the lineup so far for the 87th Congress is 257-175 Democratic as compared with 283-154 in the 86th.

Millions in Road Work Programmed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Highway Commission has added $23.2 million in projects to its long-range program, making a total of 302 projects costing an estimated $91.4 million now slated for construction.

The Commission, which began long-range planning in January with the years 1960-61-62, Wednesday added the calendar year 1963 to the program.

"Additional work programmed Wednesday covers 91 projects, included are four-lane facilities at Springdale, Van Buren, Harrison, Fort Smith and Pine Bluff and relocation of two-lane highways in Fayetteville, Newport, Berryville and Magnolia.

Commission Chairman Lawrence Blackwell of Pine Bluff said programming was based on receipt of a full share of $2 million in highway funds released by retirement of some road bonds.

Cities are expected to make a bid in the next legislature for part of this money.

Blackwell said the new program was intended to fit anticipated revenue while still helping all sections of the state.

The Commission also awarded contracts totaling more than $6 million on 10 road and bridge jobs on which bids were opened Wednesday.

Highway Director F. R. Oliver said today that he thought that under the new programming as combined with that previously adopted "we have a pretty good distribution among the most critical sections of primary roads."

He mentioned Highway 167 the incoming president advised.

Kennedy said he would "announce within 24 hours arrangements with the administration with regard to the transitions."

But he said he would make no arrangements of appointments to his administration before Thanksgiving.

Popular Vote Margin Has Dwindled

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a dwindling popular margin from a record voter turnout, Sen. John F. Kennedy held 300 electoral votes today as he prepared to take over the presidency 71 days hence.

With counting continuing in California and Alaska, Kennedy had captured 22 states with 300 electoral votes—31 more than the needed 29. Vice President Richard M. Nixon took control in 25 states with 189 votes. Eight electors in Mississippi and six in Alabama were not committed.

But in the popular vote, Kennedy held a margin of less than 325,000 votes in a tally of more than 66 million for the major party candidates. With returns yet to come and tallies for minor parties, it appeared that Kennedy's presidential victory might come on less than a majority of the popular vote cast. His 50.2 per cent of the popular vote made it the tightest election since 1916 when Woodrow Wilson defeated Charles Evans Hughes.

Plans already were under way for Kennedy representatives to work with administration officials in arranging for the changeover next Jan. 20.

Foreseeing a "difficult and a challenging" period during the next four years, Kennedy said Wednesday that "there is general agreement by all our citizens that a supreme national effort is needed to move this country through the 1960s."

"All of our energies will be devoted to the interests of the United States and the cause of freedom around the world."

Working with him will be a Democratic-controlled Congress in which, however, Republicans will show some gains over the present lineup. For the last six years, Congress and the White House have been controlled by different parties.

Tuesday's election provided a Senate makeup of 64 Democrats and 36 Republicans to replace the 66-34 division of the present Senate. With tabulations in five House races incomplete, the Democrats had elected 257 members and the Republicans 175. The old lineup, including vacancies, was 283-154. The Republicans had gained 22 seats.

But the Democrats registered a net gain of one among state governors, raising their statehouse total to 34—their highest since 1938. Of the 27 state posts at stake Democrats won 15 and the Republicans 12, with political changes taking place in 13 states. Six incumbents were defeated.

Kennedy has said he will wait at least two weeks before designating any of the top officials who will make up his administration.

But he will need to designate soon the man he expects to step into the shoes of Christian A. Herter as secretary of state. Among those mentioned for this role are Adlai E. Stevenson, Rep. Chester Bowles of Connecticut, south of Little Rock, Highway 71 north of Alma, and Highways 64 and 65 as among the primary routes that would benefit considerably from the three-year projection of plans.

Kennedy Got 50.4% of State Votes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The vote in Tuesday's general election in Arkansas, in which the state gave a majority to Sen. John F. Kennedy, apparently will fall short of a record, despite a record number of poll-tax holders.

With less than 200 precincts still unreported, the total vote cast in the presidential race was 393,962, still 12,610 short of the 406,572 total vote in 1956. Presumably all the unreported boxes were small ones.

Kennedy got 50.4 per cent of the vote, a majority of about 31,000 votes in the state. His total barely topped the total of 194,315 cast for Republicans and unpledged electors of the National States Rights party.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who won an unprecedented fourth term rolled up a much larger majority over Republican Henry M. Britt of Hot Springs. Britt carried only one county — Washington — and trailed Faubus nearly two to one.

Pre-election forecasts had indicated a possible record vote, with the more than 600,000 persons holding poll taxes establishing a new high for eligible voters. Rain in many parts of the state apparently cut the vote.

Memphis Plant Blast Is Probed

MEMPHIS, (AP) — Investigators probed the rubble of a small suburban plant today trying to pinpoint the cause of an explosion and fire that claimed the lives of two men.

Election Suit Will Probably Be Dropped

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Gunter-Screeton election suit probably will be dropped in view of Charles L. George's victory for state senator in the 10th District Tuesday, an attorney indicated today.

Jack Holt Sr. of Little Rock said that he hadn't consulted with his client, J. T. Gunter of Austin, but that offhand he couldn't see any point in continuing the suit which Gunter brought to have himself—and not State Sen. Jerry Screeton of Hazen—declared the Democratic nominee for the senator's job.

Screeton's name appeared on the ballot at Tuesday's general election but he was defeated by George of Cabot a write-in candidate.

Holt said that George still would be the state senator-elect no matter how litigation between Gunter and Screeton came out.

He said that if Screeton had been elected Tuesday and Gunter then won the lawsuit, a special election would have had to be called.

Holt agreed with a suggestion that the best Gunter could now hope for would be a moral victory.

The general election arrived with the litigation still undecided. The last pre-election move came when Circuit Judge W. J.

had been shot twice in the head. Fishel was a friend of Jake Rubin, 37, owner of a night club, who was slain at the club March 25 after an argument with two men.

Two ex-convicts are charged with murder in Rubin's slaying and go on trial in Cairo Monday. They are George Garner, 37, coin machine distributor, who once served time in Arkansas and Ted Crowley, 57, a hotel operator.

DOROTHY DIX

Modern Bathsheba and David

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

I have been married 17 years and have two fine children. We joined a country club for the family. There I met a man who is also married and much respected in club and community. He is the center of attraction, the life of the party and a gentleman. But from the start he had eyes only for me. He asked me to lunch with him. I said no. He drove around my house every day and often at night. He told me he couldn't get me out of his mind. I told him he was crazy and to leave me alone or I'd tell my husband. In fact, I did tell my husband and we laughed it off. That was two years ago.

More phone calls. More driving around my house. Finally I took a ride with him and went to his office. He kissed me and told me how much he cared. That's how it all started.

He calls me every day. We have fallen deeply in love. It is terrible. We feel we're being unfaithful to our spouses. He says the four of us should have dinner together, tell of our love and ask for our freedom so that we may marry. I can't see any good in this. I am afraid to hurt my husband and this man's wife. We tried to stop seeing one another half of its fall sick. I told my husband I had a virus. But when this man called up and drove by my house I completely recovered.

Ordinarily he might talk to his elderlyman but he is very active in Temple and it would be most center of attraction. When I think of breaking up two homes, of the children, I get panicky. Yet we can't give each other up. I thought of our both going to see my brother who is a lawyer. But again I got chicken. What to do?

Dear Lovesick: Temporalizing is harmful to all concerned. Face the issue squarely. Difficult though it may be, your only salvation is to put self aside and consider the others involved. Weigh the pros and cons. If as your lover suggests, you and he declare your passion, will this banish all wreck the lives of all concerned, or will your husband and his wife, take the news in their stride? Would they be willing to divorce? And how about the children—are you and this man prepared to give them up? Then there is the question of finances: Have you enough money to be independent, come what may?

Only in rare instances is divorce the solution. The deciding factor should be your children and the effect all this will have upon them.

Dear Helen: I used to be a happy, well-adjusted teenager. Now I find myself lonely and miserable. Once I was an optimist. Now I am a pessimist—the one type I could never

My faith in people has been shaken so many times. I love a young man who loves me. He can't discuss marriage at present because he wants to finish college first. I am not interested in marriage. I, too, want to further my studies and learn to be independent in case that should ever be necessary.

Whenever this boy mentions how nice it is to have someone to trust, it breaks my heart because I can't trust him. I want to trust him, as I want to others, but I always wonder if they would take advantage of my faith in them. My parents taught me to look beneath the surface. I always wonder what people really think. It would be wonderful to trust and be trusted. -Devoted Reader

Dear Devoted Reader: On the whole this is a pretty nice world and most of the people in it, better than average. We get what we give. Unless you trust others they won't trust you. Give your boy friend the benefit of the doubt. Believe in him.

In Alice-in-Wonderland, when Alice said to the Queen, "There's no use trying, one can't believe impossible things," the queen said, "I dare say you haven't had much practice. When I was your age I always did it for half an hour a day. Why, sometimes, I've believed as many as six impossible things before breakfast." Try it!

Dear Helen:
I am 16 and like a boy who is 18. I used to go with him before he went in Service. We both thought it better to break up while he was away. He writes to me all the time and as though he likes me. He's a wonderful boy; doesn't curse or drink. He smokes but won't smoke in front of me or his mom. He's always talking of marriage. I don't want to marry till I am 19. My big sister has explained a lot of things so I would know what I and every other woman has to go through in life.

This boy is coming home soon. What should I say about marriage and should I go out with him or not - Worried and Mixed Up

Dear Worried and Mixed Up: Don't let the sudden impact of the facts of life cloud your feelings for this nice boy. If you like him, go out with him. Enjoy yourself. But - take your time about getting married. You're still pretty young to be settling down.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Hasty Marriage."

Texas Playing All Angles for TCU Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Texas is playing all the angles in its effort to beat Texas Christian Saturday, and thus stay in the Southwest Conference race.

The Longhorns don't plan to get caught short this time like they did last season when they came out in short-sleeved jerseys with snow on the ground. They lost 14-9.

So when cold weather came Wednesday Coach Darrell Royal said his Longhorns would take their long-sleeved jerseys along for use if the weather is bad at Fort Worth Saturday.

Royal also was worrying about his injuries as were most of the Southwest Conference coaches. He had sophomore guard, Johnny Treadwell and regular fullback Ray Poage out with hurts although versatile halfback Jack Collins seemed to be rounding into shape for full duty.

Texas Christian had both its quarterbacks limping with knee hurts but they were expected to be able to play. The quarterbacks, Sonny Gibbs and Don George, took part in a 90-minute workout Wednesday.

The Rice-Texas A&M game at Houston Saturday may have a flock of players on the sidelines. Fullback Roland Jackson, tackle George Karam and end Bill Simmons were out of action at Rice and it will be Friday before it can be determined if they'll get into the game.

Texas Aggie Coach Jim Meyers called off contact work because of so many injuries. Back Jim Murphy and punter Babe Craig won't be able to play at all and back Sam Byer, guard Wayne Labar, tackle George Hogan and end Ralph Smith may not see action.

Arkansas, which meets Southern Methodist at Fayetteville, had end Les Lelsinger and guard Paul Henderson on the doubtful list but Coach Frank Broyles was cheered by news that his top two fullbacks, Joe Paul Alberty and Curtis Cox, might be able to play again.

Southern Methodist had four players on the ailing list, fullback Gene Sherman, halfback Glynn Gregory, end Pat Neill and guard Bobby Hunt, but all are expected to play, although some on a limited service basis only. The main thing Coach Bill Meek was worried about was defending Arkansas. His boys look only fair at it when the freshman ran the Razorback plays.

Baylor and Texas Tech play inter-sectional games. Baylor meets Southern California in Waco and Coach John Bridgers was sharpening up his aerial attack in view of the fact that the Trojans would throw a 227-pound line against the 20-pound bears.

Texas Tech plays Wyoming at Lubbock and Coach DeWitt Weaver worried because the Wyoming defense was No. 1 in the nation. Weaver feared Hal Dick Polson wouldn't be recovered from a leg injury sufficiently to play and was using defensive back Dan Gurley in his place.

Speculation on Laurel Park Race
LAUREL, Md. (AP) - There was plenty of speculation today about which horse would go postward the favorite in the $10,000 Washington, D. C., International Friday at Laurel Park. Some say Bald Eagle, last year's winner, others like Harmonizing, and still others swing towards the French ace, Puissant Chef.

The calm advice is - don't let it worry you. After eight International they're still waiting to greet a favorite in the winner's circle.

Most observers favored Bald Eagle, Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim's 5-year-old star, at around 7 to 5, with Henri Aubert's Puissant Chef 5-2 and another French horse, Hautain, 3-1. Harmonizing was tabbed at 10-1.

Then the official track program odds-maker threw this early line at the "experts" and this was the recipe:
Harmonizing, 5-2; Bald Eagle 3-1; Puissant Chef, 4-1; and Hautain 10-1.

The Laurel management calls this the "Olympics of Racing," or "The Race of Distinction." It costs nothing for a horse to start, the track foots all the bills, and with the $100,000 purse, the figures runs close to $200,000.

Blevins Trips Guernsey in 2 Out of 3
Guernsey played at Blevins Tuesday night and won one of three games. The Blevins Senior Boys won 53 to 46.

Stevens and Hawley of Guernsey tossed in 14 each while Harris of Blevins hooped 22.

Blevins Senior Girls downed Guernsey 55 to 28 with Stone of Blevins and Adams of Guernsey making 16 each.

Virginia Rosenbaum tossed in 20 points to lead Guernsey to a 35 to 22 win over Blevins Junior girls.

Hard Freeze Sends Ducks to Arkansas
LITTLE ROCK (AP) - A hard freeze drove the last ducks from Canadian breeding grounds Wednesday. They are headed for Arkansas and most of them should be here when the hunting season opens Nov. 23.

The first major flight of ducks arrived in Arkansas Saturday, and the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission predicted this year's season will be better than last year's poor one.

"We still have a shortage of water," said Gus Albright, publicist for the commission.

"The rain Wednesday helped, but we still need one or two more good rains to get enough water."

Albright said Frank Belrose, a biologist for the Illinois Game and Fish Commission, reported that several flights of ducks left Illinois Wednesday.

Belrose reported that the flocks were down in number but that the ratio of young ducks to old was improved. Belrose said the ratio appears to be one young to one old.

Albright said a larger percentage of young ducks is needed to assure a successful season. Young ducks are asler for the hunter to kill.

Albright said Dave Donaldson, biologist for the Arkansas commission reports a good concentration of ducks in northeast Arkansas, particularly in the Black River public hunting area.

Chickens to Be Best Buy Foreigners

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Living chickens and leg of lamb battled this week for the top spot on the housewife's food ballot.

With both meats in good supply, prices were hammered down. Fryers, down 2 to 10 cents a pound on the week, were pushed in the East and Midwest, while leg of lamb, off 4 to 14 cents a pound, was the top buy in the East, Midwest and Far West.

Pork loins also were strong contenders in some areas as beef took a back seat after running far ahead in recent weeks. With cold storage stocks up 8 1/2 per cent over a year ago Long Island ducklings were featured in some Eastern stores.

Butter prices edged higher in some places and eggs advanced 1 to 8 cents a dozen over a fairly wide area.

An ominous note for shoppers—the wholesale food index compiled by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., this week rose to its highest level since June 1959.

Outstanding buys among vegetables this week are listed as broccoli, brussels sprouts, cauliflower, green onions, shallots, mushrooms, medium yellow onions, potatoes, radishes, spinach and turnips.

Best bets among fruits continue to be apples, supported by emperor grapes, cranberries and chestnuts.

Hoss Thieves Operating in Garland

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Hoss thieves have raided in Garland County and lawmen think the rustlers may be a couple of jailbreakers.

State Trooper Glen Minton said two horses were stolen last Thursday from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dicus near here. Mr. and Mrs. Dicus made like a posse and trailed the stolen animals to near Vandover, about six miles from the Oklahoma state line.

They also found that two men had ridden the horses, camping at night along back roads. "I figure the men must have ridden about 100 miles," Dicus said.

Minton said the description of one of the men resembled that of one of four men who escaped from county jail near here recently. He said two men resembling two of the escapees had been seen near the Dicus home prior to the horse theft.

Mr. and Mrs. Dicus trailed their horses all right, but they still had trouble locating them. Officers in Howard County who found the beasts took custody of the saddles but turned the animals loose and the couple had to hunt down the unsaddled beasts.

The view from the 1,472-foot Empire State Building reaches as far as 50 miles into five states.

Firm Appeals in Water Pump Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Northside Supply and Development Co. has appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court in a dispute with Cave Springs (Benton County) over water pumping costs.

The firm asked the high court to release it from an injunction issued by Chancellor Thomas F. butt of Fayetteville directing it to abide by a 25-year water supply contract.

The city last year demanded that the company pump water electrically and pay costs of the service. A contract rate of 20 cents per 1,000 gallons was based on a water wheel pump.

School Board at N. Orleans to Just Wait

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The New Orleans School Board adopted a wait-and-see attitude today following a legislative committee's seizure of the city's public school system to block federally-ordered integration.

An eight-man committee of the Louisiana Legislature grabbed control of the school Wednesday acting under authority of segregation measures signed into law a day earlier by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis.

The deadline for dropping racial barriers in first grade classrooms end Monday, under a ruling by U.S. Judge J. Skelly Wright.

Lloyd Littner, president of the School Board, said last night that the board "would just sit tight and see what happens."

The board is completely out of the picture now," he said.

A special session of the Legislature exercised the state's sovereignty and interposed itself between the federal courts and the school system.

The school Board had planned

Nikita Starts Move for a Summit Meet

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev is already maneuvering for a summit conference with President-elect John F. Kennedy. He has begun with soft words and this probably signifies a lull in the cold war for the next several months.

Western diplomats here agreed that Khrushchev's interest in resuming negotiations looking to a new summit meeting was behind the unusual message of congratulations which he dispatched to Kennedy Wednesday.

In his message, Khrushchev called for a return to the kind of Soviet-U.S. relations which existed in the administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt at a time when the two countries were allied against Nazi Germany. But he went beyond that reference to the past.

He declared that in the interest of world peace the Soviet Union is ready "to continue the efforts to solve such a pressing problem as disarmament, to settle the German issue through the earliest conclusion of a peace treaty and to reach agreement on other questions."

"Any steps in this direction," he said in a sentence that could embrace both summit and diplomatic negotiations, "will always meet with the full understanding and support of the Soviet government."

Kennedy during the campaign declared himself willing to go to the summit but only on condition that "there is some reason to believe that a meeting of minds can be obtained on either Berlin, outer space, or general disarmament—including nuclear testing."

For the period immediately after the next president takes office Jan. 20 Kennedy said the president should focus on building up U.S. strength because "the Soviet Union does understand strength."

Neither in Kennedy's statement before the election nor in Khrushchev's new message is there any hint of changes in basis U.S. or Soviet policy.

Khrushchev has said repeatedly that he wants a peace treaty signed separately by East and West Germany, whereas the United States stands firm on a peace treaty signed by a united Germany. Khrushchev wants the western Allies to pull out of West Berlin. Kennedy, like Eisenhower, has pledged firm U.S. support for the continued independence of West Berlin from Communist rule.

What the friendly wording of the Khrushchev message does seem to mean is that the Soviet leader is prepared to resume active broadscale negotiations with a new U.S. administration on a variety of problems.

Meeting With Herter Is Suggested

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower offered today to meet with President elect John F. Kennedy "at any mutually convenient time" to arrange an orderly transfer of governmental power.

The President also said he would welcome meetings between designated Kennedy representatives and those of the Eisenhower administration, particularly Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

In a message sent from his vacation headquarters, Eisenhower suggested that Kennedy send an aide to meet with the White House chief of staff, Wilton B. Parsons, to make the arrangements.

"I would like you to know that I stand ready to meet with you at any mutually convenient time to consider problems of continuity of government and an orderly transfer of executive responsibility on January 20 from my administration to yours," the President said.

Eisenhower sent this message Wednesday in a telegram to Kennedy at his Hyannis Port, Mass., headquarters. Press secretary James Hagerty made it public this morning after an expected Kennedy reply had not arrived in time to be released simultaneously with the President's wire.

Hagerty told newsmen he understood Kennedy's answer—presumably an acceptance of Eisenhower's offer—would be released as soon as it is received sometime during the day.

to put into effect a pupil placement plan whereby five Negro girls would be admitted to previously all-white schools.

The committee headed by Rep. R. Lee Harris of Assumption Parish, who ramrodded passage of 22 segregation bills through the Legislature, huddled Wednesday night in Baton Rouge with James F. Redmond superintendent of the New Orleans schools.

Afterwards, Redmond said the committee had asked him to continue as superintendent.

"The schools will run on Monday just as they were today," Redmond said.

Reaction of World to U. S. Election

LONDON (AP)—The giants of the Communist world split today in their reaction to the election of John F. Kennedy. Moscow was friendly, Peking hostile.

While most of the Free World looked to the U.S. president-elect for dynamic new leadership Soviet Premier Khrushchev fired off a congratulatory telegram to Kennedy declaring readiness for "most friendly relations" and proposing negotiations on disarmament, Germany and other cold war issues.

Khrushchev, who blamed President Eisenhower for the U2 incident and collapse of the Paris summit said he hoped Soviet-American relations "will again follow the line along which they were developing in Franklin Roosevelt's time."

Red China's official New China news agency, however, described the president-elect as a member of one of America's richest families and called him an advocate of military spending and war preparations.

The comment made clear that the election has not altered Peking's hate-America policy.

The differing Red reactions reflected the Moscow-Peking argument over peaceful coexistence—with Khrushchev holding that war is not inevitable because communism can triumph by peaceful competition, and the Red Chinese arguing that "just wars" are inevitable as long as capitalism exists.

Moscow's Pravda, the communist party newspaper, claimed American voters had rejected Vice President Richard M. Nixon because Republican policy had not conformed to "the interests of safeguarding peace."

Moscow radio said some observers believed the new administration would make a "more realistic appraisal of the international situation."

The election of the first Roman Catholic president was received with satisfaction at the Vatican.

Pope John XXIII, in a congratulatory cable to Kennedy, prayed that "Almighty God may assist you" and expressed his good wishes to "the beloved American people."

Along the coast of Ireland's County Wexford, from which Kennedy's great-grandfather emigrated during the famine of 1847, a chain of bonfires burned Wednesday night. The little town of Newross was gay with flags in celebration.

Most Western newspapers viewed the election in the light of the cold war and looked to Kennedy to put new life in the Western alliance.

"The big sleep ends" said a headline in London's conservative Daily Mail.

Stockholm Expressen, Scandinavia's largest newspaper, said the tremendous task ahead of checking Communist advances and said the Free World hopes Kennedy "will be able to turn the tide."

Cuba's government-controlled press gave the expected secondary—and acid—treatment to the election. La Calle, referring to Kennedy and Nixon, said one candidate was "as much a bandit as the other."

But many Latin-American newspapers expressed the hope a new administration would give more attention to their national problems. Mexico City's Diario de la Tarde said Latin America expects a sort of Marshall Plan.

The Chinese Nationalists on Formosa, who had favored Vice President Nixon for his stand on Quemoy and Matsu, put on a brave face at the Kennedy election. President Chiang Kai-shek and other officials sent congratulations and Formosa newspapers said no basic change in America's China policy would result.

Japan's multimillion-circulation dailies expressed hope for new energy and flexibility in Washington. Asahi, the largest, said the Kennedy victory was recognition of the need to "re-establish America's international leadership on a new foundation."

The election results were received indifferently in much of the Middle East.

Freeze Mince Pies For The Holidays

When it comes to Thanksgiving and Christmas cookery, get a head start so that you, too, can share in the fun with your guests. One way to do this is to use packaged pie crust mix and the 28-ounce jars of ready-to-use mince meat. Make several mince pies or individual tarts and store them in your freezer.

Mince Pies and tarts freeze well and may be stored for two to three months, according to tests made in The Borden-Kitchen. And little extra work is needed to make five or six such pies instead of the usual one or two at a time. Whether you bake the two-crust mince pies before or after freezing is up to you. However, you should freeze the single crust or open-faced pies and individual tarts before baking them. This makes them taste even better than usual.

After making the crust for individual tarts, fill with mince meat, wrap, freeze, and store. When ready to bake, remove the tarts from your freezer and pop them into the oven. Add decorative and flavorful toppings after tarts have been baked.

Make special toppings for open-faced mince meat tarts simply from Dint's Nut Cream Cheese Or, decorative stars cut from sharp natural cheddar cheese with a cookie cutter. Another idea is a simple meringue which has been flavored with instant coffee.

TRIAL BY SLANDER

THE STORY: Questions of friends puzzle Janet Hamilton, especially since they seem to suspect there is a man in her life. Janet, a widow, has been taking courses at night school in order to obtain a teaching certificate. She has struck up an acquaintance with Dr. Jason Whiting, her instructor. She enjoys Jason's company.

CHAPTER X

By May, Janet knew exactly how many class meetings were left in the school year. As they dwindled, she experienced a certain tension in Jason's presence. He, too, seemed to feel the constraint. Their talks veered away from the personal; they discussed books, philosophy, religion, art, the teaching profession. At times they merely sat quietly, not because of a reluctance to touch on the one thing topmost in their minds.

The last Thursday of class sessions, she watched him walk into the classroom, his tall lean figure commanding attention. Her heart pounded, and her palm grew moist, just as they had lately when she sat across from him in the drugstore booth after school. Frequently she had had to look away, afraid that her face was a showcase for her emotions. At the end of the period, he rose from his desk, cleared his throat and announced in an expressionless voice that he would not be present for the exam; he was attending a conference and would be out of town. A proctor would be there; reports would be mailed to each student, and so on. For a moment Janet was jolted. Why hadn't he told her that he wouldn't be here? Well, he would discuss it with her after class. Alone, she hurried through the doors she gathered up her things. Alone, he hurried through a light rain to the drugstore.

The elderly counterwoman said hello as enthusiastically as he might have greeted a relative dropping in on a Sunday afternoon in the middle of a ball game. He made no effort to take her order. When they had begun in February to meet for coffee, she would slip away first and he would join her after the classroom had emptied. They had kept up the practice of going separately to their meeting place.

The door swung open, and she straightened up. Jason's eyes found hers and he smiled hesitantly while the counterwoman busied herself pouring out the usual two mugs of coffee. Jason took off his overcoat, brushed the raindrops from his shoulders and hung it up deliberately. He walked slowly over to the booth and sat down across from her. They drank their coffee and avoided looking at each other. Finally Jason spoke. "You're quiet tonight."

"It's just knowing the term is over. I've enjoyed it and knowing you. I shall miss all of it."

"Yes, I will, too," Jason said absently.

Her face stung as though he had slapped her. Was this all? "Janet?" his eyes, as she looked at him, were on the steam rising from his coffee. "I think I'd better . . . you ought to know that I'm married."

"Are you?" Her finger tips gripped the edge of the bench as she tried to keep her voice even.

"It's no sin. Lots of people are." He looked at her sharply, his deep-set brown eyes probing. She smiled a bright, artificial smile and put her cigarettes in her purse.

"I must go," she said.

He looked miserable, and she enjoyed his misery with a fierce elation. She stared at the greasy rag the counterwoman was using to polish his counter, at a naked light bulb shining down on his junk gray hair. "No. Thank you. You needn't bother," she pushed herself away from the table and put on her coat. "I'm going to catch my usual train. Goodbye, Jason." She held out her hand. He did not take it.

"Don't be childish," he said quietly. "Wait for me while I pay for the coffee." He walked over to the counter.

The minute his back was turned she ran into the street, heedless of the rain pelling her bare head and the curious faces of the people she passed in her flight. She ducked into a doorway, seeking shelter in an anonymous entry while she caught her breath and brushed the blinding tears and rain from her eyes.

It was a long wait for the train. She sat disconsolately on a bench. Then it occurred to her that Jason knew her train schedule as well as she. He knew there was a wait. He would follow. She looked at each newcomer. Only five minutes now until the train left. The gate had already opened. He wasn't coming.

She got on the train, when was unceremonious at this time of night. The train gathered speed and the bravado she had felt in the drugstore cracked. Why hadn't she listened to what he had to say? She could have done that much, at least. Now everything was ruined. She'd never see him again. Her mind made frantic plans to get in touch with him. Her pride rejected them. In an effort to dispel her grimness, she thought of her sons, her home, of others much worse off. It didn't help. She had behaved like

School Boy Is Famous as Artist

By BOB HARING
Associated Press Staff Writer

Grove Oldfield looks much like any high school senior. But he's far from an average teen-ager. At 17, he is already an artist with a considerable and growing following in Arkansas. What's more, he's been successful in making art a paying proposition.

Currently the North Little Rock painter has a one-man show in Little Rock. Many of his paintings have been sold—he can't recall offhand just how many.

Grove began painting three years ago. He's largely self-taught except for some school classes, but within the last year he has studied with some of the better Little Rock area artists.

He works mostly in oils and tempera (relative to the familiar "show-card colors"). But he also has used pastels (a relative of chalk) and other media.

Grove likes tempera for its versatility, which he feels is greater than afforded by oils. But he has done many oil paintings—and is successful enough with them that some have sold for $100 or more. (Some of his tempera works command similar prices.)

Grove works mostly from rough sketches, aided by imagination. His current show included some striking views of street scenes and houses, many featuring rich browns and blacks set off by a chalk white sky.

He has stirred the enthusiasm of several Little Rock area artists. "If he can do this at 17," said one, "I think what he'll be able to do at 27."

Grove intends to pursue an art career, starting next fall at the University of Arkansas. Eventually he may go to an art school, but first, he said, he wants to get a well-rounded liberal education.

Grove worked parttime to help finance his painting (oil colors and canvas are expensive), but now has enough sales to make his art self-supporting. He is the first in his family to display artistic ability, he said.

One of his paintings, of a little blonde girl in a blue dress, has reminded several viewers of the work of Renoir, a famed French artist, but Grove said the picture was not done in conscious imitation.

His work displays a variety of art styles. "I would rather work in abstraction," he says. "There's more freedom of usage . . . you're not so limited by trying to get something . . . not following a definite pattern." Many people don't "get" abstractions and this, he feels, may be because "people got painting mixed up with pictures."

In his abstractions, he says, he a schoolgirl. She remembered a college roommate saying, "Give me an out-and-out wolf any time. It's the shy helpless ones who are dangerous." Why hadn't he spoken of his marriage when they first met? He could have spoken of it casually. They had talked of John. Yet he had never made the slightest effort to touch her with anything more than warmth and companionship, into which she had read a deeper meaning.

2 teaspoons Instant Coffee
1/4 cup liquidified Starlac nonfat dry milk

Dissolve instant coffee in liquidified nonfat dry milk in 12-ounce glass. Add ice cream. Stir briskly until slightly melted.

Gay Fruit Cocktail Pudding Cake

Next time you bake an oven dinner for the family, slip in this quick and easy fruit-cooked pudding cake. A light sponge cake coconut or (top) toasted to delightful crunchiness. "Fruit Cocktail Pudding Cake" can be served warm or cold with a fluff of whipped cream and garnished with fruit cocktail.

Beat 2 eggs with 1 teaspoon vanilla until light and fluffy. Gradually add 1 cup sugar, beating until thick and lemon-colored. Measure 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour; resift flour with 1/2 teaspoon salt and 2 teaspoons baking powder. Stir into egg mixture. Thoroughly drain 1 (1 lb. 14 oz.) can fruit cocktail; measure out 1/4 cups fruit and fold into batter, reserving remaining fruit for garnish. Turn into buttered 9-inch square baking pan. Sprinkle 1 cup flaked coconut over top. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes, until cake tests done. Cut in squares and serve warm or cold, topped with 1/2 pint (1 cup) heavy cream, whipped and sweetened to taste, and reserved fruit cocktail. Makes 8 servings.

Rich Almond Fruit Cake

"Golden Almond Fruit Cake" slices beautifully when first made, yet is an excellent "keeper." The buttery pound cake is chock-full of elegant almonds and fruits. For gift mailing, bake it in 3-1-pound coffee tins, and send them in their containers.

Thoroughly cream 1 cup (1/2 pound) butter or margarine; gradually beat in 1 cup sugar, creaming until light and fluffy. Add 5 eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Sift 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour, measure and reserve 1/2 cup to toss with fruits. Sift 2 cups of the flour with 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, blend into creamed mixture. Add 1/4 teaspoon almond extract and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Toss together 1 1/2 cups (8 ounces) whole candied cherries and 1 cup (6 ounces) candied pineapple. Line 1 (9-inch) tube pan or three greased 7 x 3 1/2 inch loaf pans with heavy brown paper grease paper. If fluted pan is used, grease well and flour, but do not line with paper. Pour in batter. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 2 hours or until a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool on wire rack. Wrap in brandy-soaked cloth and store in covered tin. Makes about 3 1/4 pounds fruit cake.

Democrats to Control Congress

BY JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Solid Democratic majorities will control the Senate and the House when the 87th Congress convenes Jan. 3.

The Democrats quickly nailed down control of the Senate in Tuesday's election. And by 3 o'clock this morning, they had captured more than half the 437 House seats.

Nonetheless, with returns still incomplete, it appeared the Republicans had dented the top-heavy margins the Democrats held in the outgoing 86th Congress. In the Senate the old lineup was 60-34 and in the House 283-154.

With all of the Senate races settled except for a tight battle in Montana, the Republicans had picked up one seat in Delaware and another in Wyoming.

Sen. Karl Mundt, veteran South Dakota Republican, squeaked to victory over Rep. George McGovern a Democrat who decided to give up his House seat to make the race for the Senate.

In Montana, Democratic Rep. Lee Metcalf and Republican former Rep. Owen B. Fjare were in a mid-and-tuck contest for the Senate seat being vacated by Sen. James E. Murray, D-Mont.

In the House, Republicans had gobbled up 18 seats held by Democrats but had lost 5 for a net gain of 13. In races still undecided, Democrats were ahead in 30 and Republicans in 27.

Over-all, however, the outlook was for a Congress similar in make-up and key figures to the one President Eisenhower had to deal with in the last two years of his administration.

Southern Democrats, most of whom supported Sen. John F. Kennedy even though strongly opposed to parts of the party platform, will continue to hold many of the committee chairmanships and be in position to team up with Republicans against legislation they dislike.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas won reelection to the Senate, but was prepared to resign to assume the vice presidency.

The Big Three in the House, Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., the majority leader, Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., and the Republican leader, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, all won reelection.

Another long familiar figure in the House, former Republican Speaker Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, won re-election after a tussle with his Democratic foe, Edward F. Doolan. Martin trailed in the early returns.

Most of the overturns in the House were at the expense of freshman Democrats swept into office in the 1952 Democratic landslide from normally Republican areas.

Republican gains were chalked up in Connecticut, Vermont, Indiana, Maryland, Colorado, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Maine. The GOP lost seats in New York, New Jersey and Idaho.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats clinched control of Congress early Wednesday as mounting congressional returns gave them majorities in both the House and Senate.

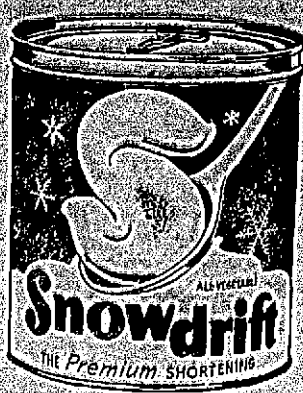

Given a bulge of 43 holdover seats in the Senate the Democrats quickly sealed their victory by picking up 18 of the 34 seats up for election with 5 still undecided. Democrats led in three of those. They had a 60-34 edge in the last Senate.

In the House the Republicans made slight inroads into the big Democratic majority of the last session but were unable to mount a serious threat to take over the

Any Spurt in Business Is Months Away

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Business men are sizing up the election results today. But except for some impressionable stock traders, most observers think whatever real effect there will be on the business climate is months away.

The winner's policies, as distinct from campaign promises are yet to take concrete form. And even after the new occupant of the White House has made these clear, most of them will still be up for the Congress to decide whether they will or won't become realities.

The stock market's reaction for a few days will tell a lot about what some traders think is in store.

But the history of the markets' initial reflexes to election returns hasn't been impressive. In almost all instances it has been short-lived, reflecting the enthusiasm of partisans of the winning side and the gloom and doom feelings of partisans of the losing side. Usually the market has resumed quickly the course it already was taking.

Actual business conditions and prospects will count more the rest of this year than will guesses as to what the new administration may do—either to spur industry or to enact policies it considers restrictive.

Even guesses as to whether a sound dollar or more inflation is in store will remain just that for some time—more guesses.

Remember, it is President Eisenhower, who will deliver the State of the Union message next January. He will present the next budget to the new Congress. And while he is expected to consult his successor on the new budget, it's unlikely that President Eisenhower will propose any expenditures of which he strongly disapproves. They would have to wait until late in January at the earliest.

The incoming president has made it plain he expects to spend more money than the present one. Businessmen have already discounted this in advance, noting that in their campaign speeches both candidates had taken this stand.

The Federal Reserve Board has been moving since March — and especially in recent weeks — to make credit plentiful and interest rates lower. The U.S. Treasury, as a sort of counterbalance, has taken steps of late to keep short-term interest rates stable — and thus to retard the flow of U. S. dollars and gold abroad to more

144 Negroes Are Jailed in Tennessee

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP) — Police jailed 144 hymn-singing Negro students here Tuesday after breaking up a placard-waving march to the Madison County courthouse.

The prisoners, 66 of them women, were released last midnight under $75 bonds. The money was put up by 20 Negro business and professional men.

Police chief Raymond Gaba said the students were arrested as they carried signs protesting "discrimination" in nearby Haywood and Fayette Counties.

There was no violence reported, and no unusual tension apparent. However, Gaba ordered all 54 members of the department to duty as a precaution. He also added some 50 members of the Auxiliary Civil Defense.

Spokesmen for "The Youth Council," chapter at Lane College, said the march was misinterpreted. They said it was staged to point up the importance of election day, not as a protest.

3-Cars Collide, One Man Killed

OSCEOLA, Ark. (AP) — One man was killed when three cars collided Tuesday about midway between here and Blytheville on U.S. Highway 61.

Highway Patrolman Raymond Bishop identified the dead man as Burrell Bonds, a 46-year-old Luxora, Ark., Negro.

Bishop said the collision occurred when Bonds drove onto the Highway from a side road. No one else was seriously hurt.

Arkansas Officials to Work in Film

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Prior Evans of Batesville, dean of Arkansas basketball officials, has been selected to work as a referee in a new film, Official Basketball.

The film will be produced by the Official Sports Film Service to illustrate rules of the game. Filming starts next April 3. Evans has been officiating Arkansas basketball for 33 years. He serves as rules interpreter for the Arkansas Athletic Association. During his career, he has worked more than 3,500 high school games, including 15 state tournaments.

Kasavubu to Get Seated as Congo Envoy

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Credentials Committee was expected to recommend today that Congo President Joseph Kasavubu be seated in the General Assembly as his chaotic young nation's representative.

Kasavubu still faced a battle in the General Assembly, which must approve the committee's action. The nine-nation Soviet bloc and at least eight Asian and African nations were spearheading a move to give U.N. recognition to Kasavubu's chief rival, deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The Credentials Committee had not been scheduled to meet until December on the Congo seating question. But it suddenly decided to act after Kasavubu in a speech to the 99-nation assembly Tuesday appealed for the immediate seating of a delegation headed by himself.

The Credentials Committee is made up of Costa Rica, Haiti, Morocco, New Zealand, the Philippines, Spain, Soviet Union, the United Arab Republic and the United States. Only three of the nine nations—Russia, the U.A.R. and Morocco—are known supporters of Lumumba.

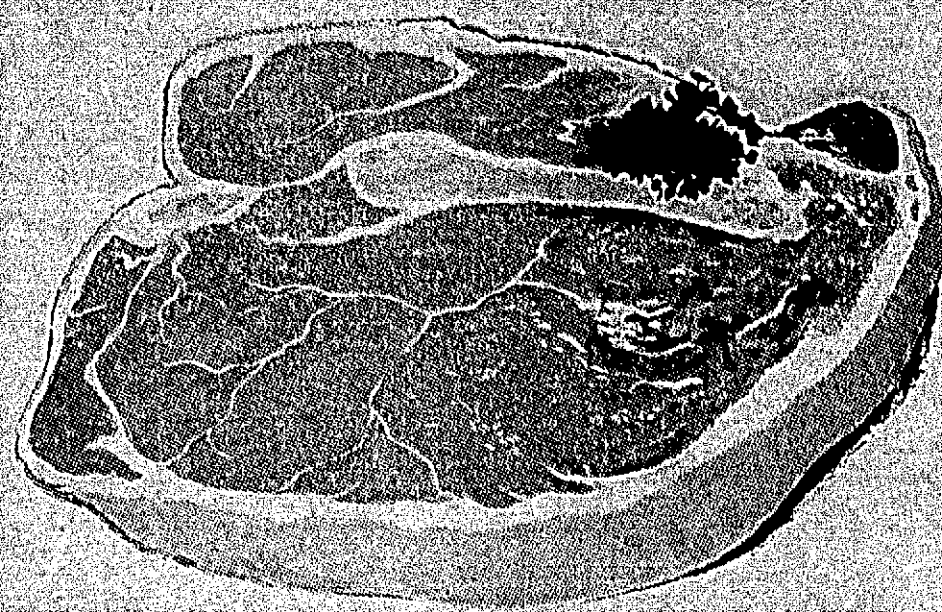

Kasavubu in a 15-minute speech opening assembly debate on the Congo said only the Congo's chief of state has the right to nominate the nation's representatives to the assembly.

To loud applause from most members except the Soviet bloc and the Asian-African group supporting Lumumba, Kasavubu said his delegation would include representatives of all Congolese factions including the rebellious provinces of Katanga and Kasai.

Kasavubu said also that Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko, a leader of the technicians' government installed by army chief Col. Joseph Mobutu would be the second-ranking member of his delegation. Bomboko, accompanied by Kasavubu here from Leopoldville, he was also foreign minister under Lumumba although the two never got along.

Voter Problem Was Man, Not Party

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The voters' problem in today's presidential election is much the same as in the elections since 1940: Choosing between men rather than ideas, picking a leader rather than a way of life.

Except for 1948, the major dilemma facing the country in all the elections of the past 20 years, including this one, was in foreign affairs.

There are some domestic differences between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

For instance, Kennedy favors federal help for teachers' pay, and Nixon doesn't. Kennedy favors a medical-care-for-the-aged program linked to Social Security, and Nixon has a different plan.

Besides such obvious, much-discussed differences, probably few voters today could recall many others, if any.

But all understand the greatest menace to the country is not internal but external—the threat of world communism—and the greatest problem over the next four years will be coping with it.

Since Nixon and Kennedy are in full agreement on the need for bucking communism, although perhaps differing on some details, they have reduced the choice between them in voters' minds to this one question: Which could handle it better?

The whole campaign—despite everything else mixed up in it—revolved around that question. The candidates themselves made it their primary issue.

In the 1936 presidential race, when Franklin D. Roosevelt ran against Alfred M. Landon, the United States was still in isolation. World War II was still out of sight, and foreign problems were not the major issue.

That year it was a choice between going on with Roosevelt's New Deal, which had been an American social revolution, or turning the clock back with the Republicans headed by Landon.

It was different by 1940 when Republican Wendell L. Willkie ran against a third term for Roosevelt. The New Deal, for all practical purposes, had run its course two years before.

The passage of the wage-hour law with its 40-hour week in 1938 was the last big piece of New Deal legislation. By 1940 foreign affairs completely overshadowed anything else.

By the time of the presidential election that year the Nazis had started World War II and overrun Western Europe; this country had begun its defense program; had started its first peacetime draft; had come out of its ancient isolation by backing Britain and giving her 50 antique destroyers; and had become jittery about Japan.

Willkie joined Roosevelt in backing the draft and aid for Britain. The only real question left for the voters was: Which could be trusted to lead better in the onrushing, dangerous years?

By 1944, with the country at war, no domestic problem could remotely match the question of the conduct of the war. All Gov. Thomas E. Dewey could offer was the idea he could do it better. The voters didn't think so.

When Dewey ran again, this time against Harry Truman in 1948, communism had emerged as a new danger but this country still had the monopoly on the atomic bomb. There was not yet profound worry about Russia.

The uproar in the 1948 election was mostly domestic: inflation, the performance of what Truman called the Republican 80th "do-nothing Congress" and his own achievements, or lack of them, in running the government at home.

But Dewey was a would-be wrecker of the New Deal. There was no profound difference between Truman and Dewey on the course of American life. So again it was a question of which man the voters had more confidence in. There never seemed much doubt in 1952—with the country at war in Korea—that Dwight D. Eisenhower, the war hero, would win over Adlai E. Stevenson when the Korean War was the biggest issue.

When the two men met again in 1956 there was no great domestic issue. There was just one that lowered above all others: the encroachments of communism. Since Eisenhower and Stevenson, like Nixon and Kennedy, agreed it had to be stopped, their only difference was on details.

This again brought the contest between them down to a question of leadership.

MARKED TREE Ark. (AP)—Marked Tree voters approved a $300,000 industrial bond issue by a 597 to 41 margin Tuesday.

Proceeds of the bond issue will be used to consolidate industrial financing.

Brazil Nuts In Treasured Cake

Fruit cake recipes are coming from treasured files these days in preparation for holiday baking. Here, a white fruit cake reminiscent of pound cake and enhanced with Brazil nuts and preserved fruits, is both festive and delicious.

Have the Brazil nuts shelled ahead of baking time to speed up the cake assembly job. For speedy shelling, put in-shell Brazil nuts in the freezer section of the refrigerator or in a food freezer for a couple of hours or overnight. When the nuts are frozen, they can be easily cracked.

White Brazil Nut Fruit Cake

- | | |
|--|-------------------------------------|
| 1 cup shortening | 1 teaspoon baking powder |
| 1 cup sugar | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 5 eggs | 2 cups coarsely chopped Brazil nuts |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons grated lemon rind | 1 1/2 cups mixed candied fruit |
| 1 tablespoon lemon juice | 1 1/2 cups candied cherries |
| 2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, divided | 1 cup white raisins |

Cream shortening; gradually add sugar, creaming thoroughly. Beat in eggs one at a time; blend until smooth. Stir in lemon rind and juice. Sift together 2 cups of the flour, baking powder and salt. Gradually stir into creamed mixture. Toss Brazil nuts and fruit in remaining 1/2 cup flour; fold into batter. Turn into 2 greased and wax paper-lined 9x5x3-inch loaf pans or one 10-inch tube pan. Bake in slow oven (300°F.) 1 1/2 hours. Yield: 2 loaf cakes.

First Winner for Arkansas Since 1948

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas rejected a States Rights Party movement and voted with a winner for the first time since 1948 in Tuesday's general election. Democrat John F. Kennedy polled 51 per cent of the popular vote in Arkansas, a figure roughly equivalent to his nationwide margin of victory. It compares to the 52 per cent with which Adlai Stevenson carried the state against President Eisenhower in 1956.

Returns from 2,166 of 2,369 precincts gave Kennedy 192,366 votes to 162,572 for Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The States Rights Party's slate of unpledged electors pulled only 24,548 votes.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus won a fourth term easily over Republican Henry M. Britt but four Faubus-sponsored referenda, including a proposed school closing constitutional amendment, were soundly defeated.

Sen. John L. McClellan and Fifth District Rep. Dale Alford, both Democratic nominees, won handily over their opponents. Five other congressmen and six other state officials were elected without opposition.

Arkansas has not supported a presidential winner since 1948 when it ignored a Dixiecrat revolt to support President Harry S. Truman. It marked the 22nd consecutive presidential election in which Arkansas has emerged in the Democratic column.

Faubus took his own victory in stride, but he expressed surprise at the poor showing of the States Rights ticket. He credited this to vigorous last-minute campaigning by Republicans.

While Faubus himself backed the Democratic ticket, he made no effort to discourage his supporters from voting States Rights.

Most of the referenda—three proposed constitutional amendments and an initiated minimum wage act—was surprising only in the unanimity. Defeat of the school closing measure, Amendment 52, and the wage act had been predicted. However, there was no organized opposition to Amendment 50, which would have doubled the constitutional limit on salaries of state, county and city officials, and Amendment 51, which would have liberalized taxing powers of cities.

While Faubus backed all four proposals, he made his big pitch for Amendment 52, which he fathered in the 1959 Legislature as a last-ditch weapon against public school integration.

Faubus started into the teeth of opposition from most of the state's politically powerful groups, including the 14,000-member Arkansas Education Association to urge adoption of this amendment in a television speech two weeks ago. The governor refrained from endorsing the amendment in the primary campaign when his four opponents took stands against it and tried to make an issue of Faubus' silence on the matter.

Opponents of the measure contended it contained provisions which could destroy the public school system, even in areas where integration is not a problem.

The vote on the measure generally followed geographical lines. It did not carry a county, but it got strongest support in counties with heavy Negro population and the resultant threat of integration difficulties.

Faubus remarked, when he learned the proposals would be defeated: "Well, I guess we can live without them."

In his own race, Faubus carried 73 counties and tied Britt in a 74th—Baxter. Each man got 1,937 votes in Baxter County. Britt carried Washington County with 8,253 votes to 6,591 for Faubus.

With 2,171 precincts reported, the statewide total was: Faubus 256,922 Britt 114,895.

Many counties did not even compute McClellan's vote in his near shutout of Marvin Fuchs, a Havana farmer. The senator seeking a fourth six-year term didn't bother to campaign after he escaped opposition in the Democratic primary. J. J. Churchill, a Republican who ran on a write-in basis after Secretary of State C. G. Hall refused to put his name on the ballot, as the Republican nominee, made a better run at Alford.

But returns from 244 of 258 precincts showed Alford an easy victor with 51,150 votes to 10,074 for Churchill.

Alford first won his job as a write-in candidate against Democratic Brooks Hays in the 1958 general election. Alford won the Democratic primary this year.

Tax-wary voters apparently decided the fates of Amendments 50 and 51, although opposition came mainly in letters to the editor columns. A salary increase proposal similar to 50 was defeated the last time it came to a vote.

Vigorous backing from the Arkansas Municipal League failed to save Amendment 51, which was presented as financial salvation for cities hard-pressed to find funds to meet demands for expanded and improved government services.

Business and farm interest clashed with organized labor over the initiated Act No. 1 of the minimum wage measure. Labor put the proposal on the ballot after efforts to get such a measure through the Legislature failed.

Nearly complete returns showed these votes on the referendum: Amendment 50: For 126,489; Against 102,244.

Amendment 51: For 139,658; Against 10,704.

Amendment 52: For 83,000; Against 247,804.

Initiated Act No. 1: For 126,042; Against 204,025.

In the only contested state Senate race, Charles D. George of Cabot, a write-in candidate, defeated State Sen. Jerry Sererton in the 19th District. Sererton won the Democratic nomination in a contested race against J. T. Gunter of Austin. Gunter's suit challenging the outcome became moot with George's victory.

Judge Franklin Wilder of Fort Smith was defeated by independent Hugh Bland of Fort Smith in his bid for reelection in the 10th Chancery District. Bland got 17,765 votes to 11,660 for Wilder. Bland entered the race after Wilder was charged with inducing a minor female to make a statement degrading her name in connection with his successful primary campaign against Municipal Judge James Langston of Fort Smith. Wilder was cleared of the charge.

Mel Carden of Benton defeated W. H. McClellan of Malvern 4,417 to 2,431 in a race between independents for the 16th Chancery District judgeship. Both men filed after the Democratic nominee, P. D. Goza of Malvern, died suddenly in September.

In the only contested prosecutor's race, incumbent and Democratic nominee Lyman A. Mickel of Fort Smith defeated write-in candidate Jack Rose of Fort Smith 9,278 to 2,671 in the 12th Judicial District.

W. J. Stephens, financier and board chairman of the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. became state representative from Grant County as a write-in candidate with the whole-hearted backing of the De-

Foreigners Watch U.S. Vote Closely

LONDON (AP)—Many foreigners followed the news today from the American election as if it were their own. Confined of a victory by John F. Kennedy, some predicted he would effect a dynamic new line into U.S. foreign policy.

The Vatican watched the election news with obvious pleasure but no official comment. L'Osservatore Romano reported in Kennedy's victory in three columns at the top of page one. The same day play given President Eisenhower's first election eight years ago. The London Stock Exchange reaction was quiet and cautious. There was an early demand for gold mining shares, and some leading issues marked up good gains.

Moscow radio reported a Kennedy victory and told its listeners at home this was a "reversing political defeat" for the Eisenhower-Nixon administration. Igor Orlov, a commentator for Tass, the Soviet news agency, interpreted the result as a sign that the American people are fed up with the policy of cold war and the arms race.

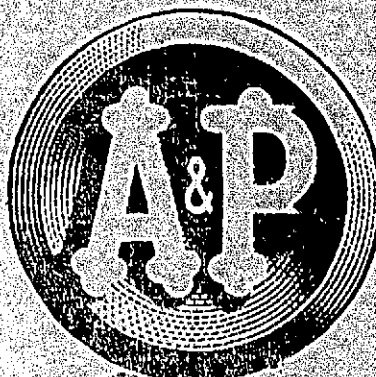

Most of the reaction outside the United States was that Kennedy would rejuvenate America's leadership of the free world rather than overturn established policies.

A tiny island off the west coast of Florida named Captiva, supposedly because the buccaner Gasparilla confined female prisoners there.

Fugitive's Gal Gals Suspended Term

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Frances Standridge of Dover has been given a one-year suspended sentence on charges growing out of a mountain seizure with fugitive Joe Hillery. She pleaded guilty Monday to grand larceny charges for auto theft and was sentenced by Circuit Judge Andrew Strafford. She and Hillery were arrested by State Police Oct. 10 after a prolonged manhunt in the Ozark Mountains. Hillery, 24, was returned to state prison where he was serving a robbery sentence. He had been freed since November of 1959 when he failed to return from a furlough. The girl joined him in the woods in September.

Double-Cherry Surprise

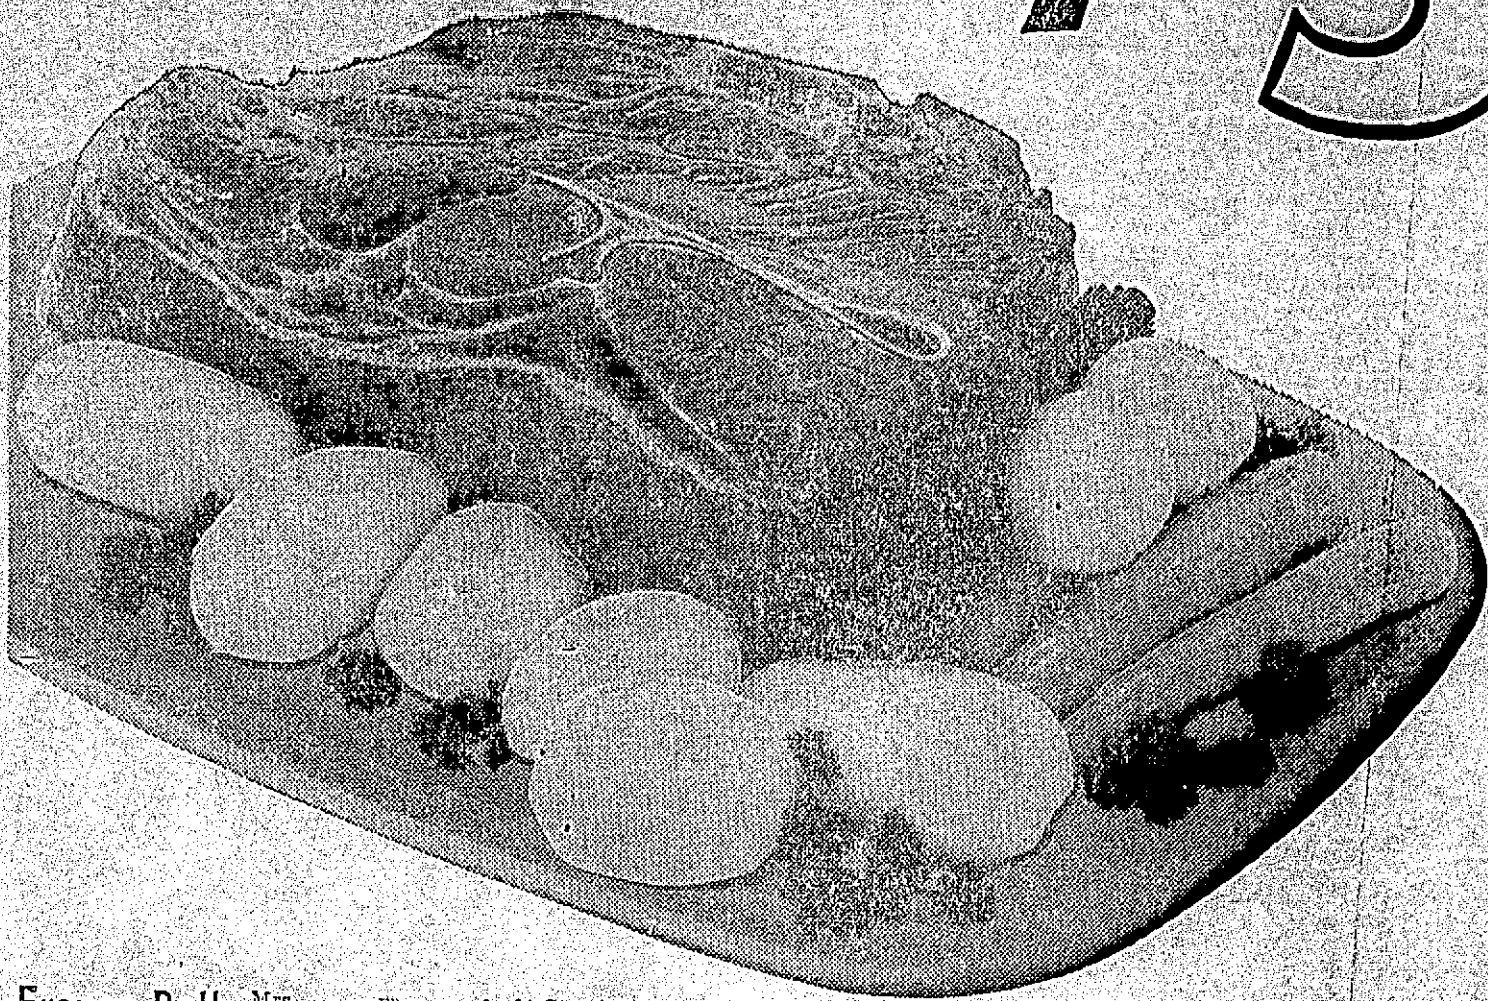

This bright and flavorful cherry dessert with its bounty of bounce and good eating is sure to bring smiles of approval from the whole family. A delicious combination of luscious Bing cherries, cherry-flavored gelatin and cola beverage, it's a perfect choice for holiday menus. You'll find it easy to make, too, with the family size fruit-flavored gelatin.

Cherry Bouquet
1 can (1 pound 14 ounces) fruit-flavored gelatin
1 family size package (6 ozs.) cherry-flavored gelatin
1 1/2 cups (two 6-ounce bottles) cola
1 cup boiling water

Drain cherries, measuring juice. (If necessary, add enough water to cherry juice to equal 1 1/2 cups.) Combine with 1 cup water and bring to a boil. Remove from heat. Add gelatin, stirring until it is dissolved. Cool slightly; then add cola. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in cherries. Pour into a 1 1/2 quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold. Serve with cream cheese balls which have been rolled in chopped nuts, if desired. Makes 10 to 12 servings.
